Reda hasn't felt well for the past two days. He thinks he may have caught a cold, so he decided to see a doctor instead of waiting. The doctor told him he mustn't ignore his symptoms and should drink more water. On his way home, Reda noticed a group of students collecting plastic bottles to recycle. He joined them, since he believes protecting the environment is too important to ignore. By the end of the afternoon, they had collected enough bottles to fill three big bags.
